I.e., I have five tabs open, I want to return to one, and Selenium can handle this without my having to manually keep track of which tab I'm on. A: You can just send driver.Close() to close current tab. For reference, see: How to execute Close() on a specific tab of IE using Selenium WebDriver Q: PHP upload extension is not recognized in latest version of IIS I have an ASP.net project on IIS 10 that uses PHP extension 82157476af
